

Hunts Catch Up

Dear R. B. Hunt Family,

Congratulations to Beth Forrest for being named R. B. Hunt Volunteer of the Year. Beth has logged countless hours over the past few years and has served as our P.T.A.O. Vice President the past two years. She has stayed involved this year "behind the scenes" to provide activities that support students and teachers alike that have helped kept things more "normal" for our school. We thank you for all your hard work and service!

Apparently, there has been a bit of neighborhood controversy about the field behind the school. I would like to clarify some things about access to the field. Due to the change in school security measures, (following the tragedy in Parkland, FL) the fencing around the field was updated to the recommended six feet over winter break. I consulted with district and as such this area is school board property and like the playground is required to be secured during off school hours. We do however have an agreement with the County Parks and Recreation Department to allow them to use this area during off school hours. Any use at this time, needs to be coordinated through them. I know this is a change and that for many years this was an open area, but I have been instructed to secure this area.

School book Fair begins this Friday during your student's media resource time, please see schedule on the back of the Catch-Up. For more information on how to use ewallet for payment, here is the link to sign up.
